In the Kwan Um School of Zen laypeople can become ordained through their Dharma Teacher program. However, you have to be committed to that school and Zen Master Seung Sahn's teachings. For information on Kwan Um School centers please see www.kwanumzen.org for more information. Two years after taking refuge, one is eligible to become a Dharma Teacher-in-training. Two years after that, one is eligible to become a Dharma Teacher if all the requirements have been met (learning the forms, attending the center regularly, doing retreats, having a clear connection to a teacher etc.)
